CASE STUDY [Compulsory]

Hilton Hotels has an integrated technology platform called "OnQ" that provides the basis for its Customer Relationship Management (CRM) system. OnQ centralizes all of the personal profile information that guests provide to Hilton via hotel or central reservation, their websites, or, memberships in the HHonors loyalty program to create a "Guest profile manager". Profiles are created for any guest who is an HHonors member or simply visits a Hilton hotel at least four times within a year. Such a system requires an extraordinary investment in information technology to capture information from Hiltons over 4,600 hotels and nearly 7,60,000 rooms in six continents across 100 countries and territories worldwide. The information collected via OnQ is combined with the customers stay history and any prior complaints made during previous visits. The entire packet information enables many of Hiltons 300,000 employees to recognize and reward guest with appropriate welcome message, room upgrades, or information related to previous visits. OnQ provides a mechanism for Hilton Hotels to learn and remember customer interest and preferences. OnQ provides a methods for capturing and managing information on Hilton customers across a diverse set of properties and various countries with local requirements.

Questions :

- a. What initiative did the Hilton Hotel take to build customer relationship? How it will change the employees role? (10 Marks)
- b. What are the benefits does the Hilton Hotel will get by enhancing customer relationship? Explain. (10 Marks)
