SECTION -A(Work book)I. Read the following passage and answer the questions set on it:(5×1=5)

Social institutions, especially the family, strengthen gendered definitions of femininity and masculinity. In earlier times, women were confined to the four walls of the home, immersed in household chores, looking after the husband and children and catering to all their necessities and demands. In fact, the role of a woman within the family was that of an angel by the hearth who created a peaceful heaven away from the husband's hectic work schedule. She was also her children's mother and cared, shared and nurtured. In the process, she was also the repository of all the male stress and tension. She had no legal or social rights, and familial or domestic abuse that could be both physical and/or emotional was rampant.

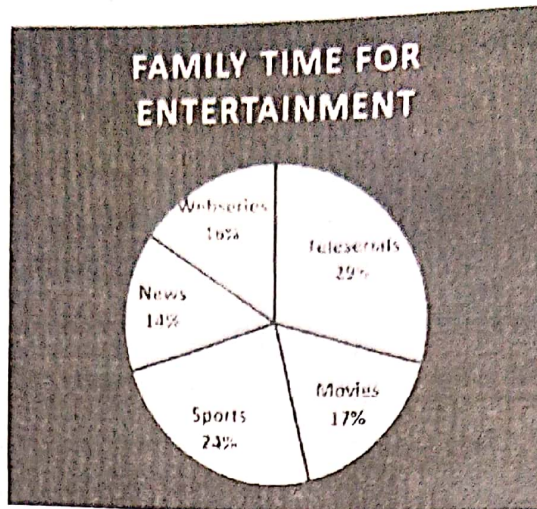

Feminism questioned such gendered existence. Across the world, the profile of families is changing from 'joint' to 'nuclear' to 'single-parent' family mould. Attitude towards the domestic labour women had to traditionally undertake (unpaid but very necessary for family sustenance) is also changing, since more women are stepping out of the confines of home and becoming economically independent.

1. What were the duties of women in earlier times?
2. Mention any word from the passage which means 'about women'.
3. How did men treat women in their households?
4. Name any two types of families found in society.
5. Suggest a suitable title for the passage.
