Compulsory Questions

Q.8	In the village of Belur, Karnataka, Meena Devi, a 35-year-old homemaker, transformed her life by launching a handmade herbal soap business. Inspired by traditional knowledge and the abundance of neem, tulsi, and aloe vera in her village, Meena enrolled in a rural entrepreneurship program supported by NABARD and a local NGO. With an initial loan of Rs.50,000, she purchased basic equipment and raw materials. Meena started with a production capacity of 50 soaps per day. She marketed her products in local weekly markets and through WhatsApp groups. As demand grew, she expanded operations and employed 10 women from her Self-Help Group (SHG), increasing production to 200 soaps daily. Her monthly income rose from Rs.3,000 to Rs.25,000, and she registered her brand, "GramaSugandha". With further support from Karnataka's Rural Marketing Scheme, Meena's soaps reached nearby towns like Hassan and Chikmagalur. Her success encouraged other women to start small ventures in pickles, papad, and handicrafts, creating a ripple effect in the village. Answer the Following questions a. What resources did Meena use to start her business? b. How did she market her products? c. What impact did her business have on others? d. What helped her scale the business?
